

Using the four way test can influence my life and future. Depending on the things I say or do, I can reach my goals and do what I want to do. There are only four things I have to think about.

First, I have to think, is it the truth. The truth is very important. If I were to tell all lies, no one would be able to believe me. I would not be a dependable or trustworthy person. If I remember to ask myself if this is the truth I can get further ahead in life. I will get a better job and get to do more, all because I asked myself if this was the truth.

Second, I need to ask myself if it's fair to all concerned. This is important because it will make me take the time to look at the bigger picture. It will also show that I care about others and not just myself. I have always striven to be a better person. In doing so, I can also help others. If it wasn't fair to all concerned, asking myself if it was fair would help me improve whatever it was that was not fair. Essentially, I would be helping myself improve.

Third, I have to ask myself if it will build goodwill and better friendships. I believe that it is very important to have goodwill and friendships. Without friendship, I would be lost. My friends and family are the ones who keep me grounded. They know when to encourage me and when to tell me that I am being too full of myself. Friends and their friendship can help you get through anything. Without it I wouldn't be able to reach my goals, which are to become either a doctor or pursue a career in music. Friends can influence me to do what is best for me. Goodwill is something I can always work on building. So, if I ask myself if this will build goodwill, that will help me to see what is and isn't goodwill. Both friendship and goodwill will make me a better person and reach my goals.

The last thing I need to ask myself is if it will be beneficial to all concerned. By taking the time to do this shows me that I care about others. Having a good heart is something everyone in the world needs to have. I care about others and want them to get something out of what I say or do. If I show I care, people will know that about me and I will have more chances to do what I want to do.

All of these things will help influence my life and future. Each one will help me reach my goals. Also, if I do each thing on the four way test, I will have complete fulfillment from life.